

Harry is responsible for cultivating strategic partnerships through community outreach activities, developing arrangements and relationships with businesses, individuals, and other organizations that have an interest in the area senior population. In addition to his Outreach duties, Ahern is also responsible for the Marketing Manager position at The Prospect-Woodward Home. Ahern was executive director for two years and Marketing Director & Community Liaison for three years at The Woodward Home before it merged with Prospect Place. Prospect-Woodward is the organization undertaking the Hillside Village Keene project. Previously Ahern worked for The Keene Sentinel for 26 years as an advertising sales representative, co-op advertising manager, print shop sales executive, Newspapers in Education Tour Guide, Sentinel Man mascot, and Promotions & Market Image Coordinator. He serves as President of the Keene Senior Center Board of Directors. Ahern also served over 15 years as a board member on the Greater Keene Chamber of Commerce. The Summit, NJ-born and 1983 California University of PA graduate has a BA in Journalism. His education includes a Fellowship as a staff writer for the Media Relations Department in the PA House of Representatives.