Village On The Isle CEO plans to Step Down

Venice, FL – Village On The Isle CEO, Joel L. Anderson, has announced plans to step down from his position effective July 17. Anderson has served as CEO for five years and in that time has been the catalyst of over $100 million of improvements, renovations and new construction, which includes the 5-Star rated health center and expansion of two new residential living buildings known as the Emerald Terraces.

“Joel is a visionary leader in the field of aging services, and his care and compassion for serving older adults is evident in all he has helped us accomplish at Village On The Isle,” says Rev. Dr. Brian Armen, Board of Trustees Chair, “While we are sad to see Joel leave, we are grateful for all that he has done to help us advance our mission for our residents, staff and community. Joel has developed an amazing executive and leadership team who will continue to carry on Village On The Isle’s mission and lead with the same care and compassion.”

“The decision to leave this incredible community is by far one of the most difficult decisions I have had to make in my career,” says Anderson, “I will remain supportive of Village On The Isle, the Board of Trustees, the residents and staff. I am excited for the next chapter in my professional life, but Village On The Isle will always be dear to me.”

The Board of Trustees' executive search committee has begun the process of identifying Mr. Anderson's replacement. Anderson will become a managing principal of a new asset management company that focuses on developing and overseeing other senior living communities across the country.
