

6 Signs It's Time for Memory Care

Presented by Dr. Sherrie All, PhD, International Speaker, Writer, Licensed Clinical Neuro-Rehabilitation Psychologist, Brain Health Expert, and Director of the Chicago Center for Cognitive Wellness

One of the most challenging decisions families living with dementia face is when, how and where to get professional long-term care. Often families wait too long, excusing away safety and isolation concerns, preferring to “keep the peace” and avoid potential sticker shock.

Dr. Sherrie All, a licensed clinical psychologist, dementia care expert, and author of “The Neuroscience of Memory,” is your guide for this program, where we’ll wade through the most common signs that signal the need for professional Memory Care.
