

What Is a Neuropsychological Evaluation and How Can it Help?

Presented by Dr. Sherrie All, PhD, International Speaker, Writer, Licensed Clinical Neuro-Rehabilitation Psychologist, Brain Health Expert and Director of the Chicago Center for Cognitive Wellness

Neuropsychological testing can help caregivers understand changes in thinking skills such as memory and attention, and this type of evaluation helps with diagnosis and treatment planning. This presentation will discuss different areas of cognitive functioning (e.g., memory, attention, language), how they are assessed with neuropsychological testing and the benefits of measuring cognitive health.

Watch for Dr. All's forthcoming book The Neuroscience of Memory: Seven Skills to Optimize Your Brain Power, Improve Memory, and Stay Sharp at Any Age due out in early 2021.
