

6 Signs It's Time for Memory Care

Presented by Dr. Sherrie All, PhD, International Speaker, Writer, Licensed Clinical Neuro-Rehabilitation Psychologist, Brain Health Expert, and Director of the Chicago Center for Cognitive Wellness

One of the most challenging decisions families living with dementia are faced with is when it's time to look into Memory Care. Often families opt to “keep the peace” and conserve funds, while setting aside issues of safety and isolation. Dr. Sherrie All, a licensed clinical psychologist, dementia care expert and author of The Neuroscience of Memory, is your guide for this program, where we will wade through the most common signals that it is time to look into Memory Care.
