

Advance Directives: A Tool for End-of-Life Decision-Making

Presented by Donna B. Fedus, M.A., gerontologist and founder of Borrow My Glasses, LLC. Donna brings 30 years of experience and a passion for dementia caregiving to her work as a gerontologist educator, adjunct professor, instructional designer and program strategist.

Talking about end of life can be uncomfortable. However, those who do it report enormous relief. Those who complete advance care planning also help ensure that end-of-life wishes will be followed and give a real gift to the family and healthcare professionals who will be asked to carry out those wishes. Invest an hour of your time to get this done!

Join gerontologist Donna Fedus to learn:

- Who has the legal right to formulate advance directives and the landmark cases that led to the law
- Tools available to communicate future medical wishes
- Conversation starters and resources to create advance directives
